SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNCIL.

A special meeting of the council was held Tuesday evening to consider the plan of offering F. S. Robbins a bonus of $10,000 to rebuild his mill which was recently destroyed by fire. All the aldermen were present except Alderman Koebe. Alderman Calkins as chairman of the committee appointed to interview Mr. Robbins, made a report to the council and stated that the committee favored presenting Mr. Robbins with $10,000 upon condition that he rebuild and operate the mill. Mr. Robbins was sent for and explained that he was not anxious to rebuild at all, but if the city desired to give him a bonus of $10,000 without binding him in any way, he would rebuild at once. City Attorney Steele drew up a resolution appropriating the $10,000 and it was introduced by Alderman Anderson and carried, all the aldermen voting aye.

NOTICE TO RURAL PATRONS.

The Post Office Department has issued the following notice to all patrons of rural delivery service:

1. On and after July 1st, 1906, patrons of the rural delivery service will be required to display signals on their boxes when they leave mail in them for carriers to collect, as, after that date, carriers, when serving their routes, will not be required to open and examine any mail boxes except those to which they have mail to deliver and those on which signals are displayed to indicate there is mail for carriers to collect.
2. Those patrons whose boxes are not provided with signals must attach thereto some device which, when displayed, will plainly show passing carriers there is mail to be collected. It is not necessary that such device shall be either complicated or costly; a very simple arrangement will answer the purpose.
3. Carriers must lower the signals on boxes after making collections, provided no mail is left therein; and must display the signals when they deposit mail for patrons, unless the patrons have made request to the contrary.

THE CAR "GRASSLAND."

The widely known and beautiful exhibit car, Grassland, reached Rhinelander Tuesday and after a short stop went east to North Crandon.

It will return to Rhinelander Thursday noon of this week, be on at the Northwestern depot and at night will have electric light, and Friday morning it leaves for Eagle River.

"Grassland," filled with agricultural products of Ashland, Bayfield, Douglas and Iron counties has for two seasons been working in the older states to attract immigration to Northern Wisconsin. It is sent out by the North Wisconsin Farmers' Association composed of 200 farmers and business men in the counties named. The Association does not sell lands and no land men are with the car.

Returning home from an eight months' trip the car is here to invite Oneida county to join the Association and share equally in the benefits.

Already a start has been made to get the memberships required for the county's admission. This quota is five hundred memberships the same that the other counties have.

See the car while it is here.

BASE BALL SUNDAY.

Manager R. F. Tompkins of the Rhinelander base ball team has arranged a game for next Sunday May 28th at the Fair grounds in this city. The Brookaw, Wis. nine will be the visiting team. This nine has a great reputation throughout this section, and our team which, so far this season, has put all comers in the shade, will have some real work to do next Sunday. It is expected the Brookaw team will be accompanied by a number from Wausau and Brookaw. If the weather is fine the Military Band may be engaged to furnish music. Free list entirely suspended.

BUILDING EXTENSION.

Robert Riley was down from Star Lake Thursday near where A. M. Riley & Sons of this city are logging. This firm is now engaged in constructing a three mile logging railroad to extend from the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway at Papoose Junction to Star Lake. The road will be completed by June 1st. Nearly two million feet of timber stands in the vicinity of Star Lake which Riley & Sons will cut. They now have two large camps in operation.

CLEGG SENTENCED.

Edward T. Clegg, the Antigo big game hunter who at one time lived in Rhinelander, pleaded guilty to the charge against him in a Chicago court and was sentenced to from one to five years in the Illinois penitentiary, after he has served his term in Joliet he will be taken to Iowa to answer to the charge against him in that state. Clegg's first wife and children are residing in Antigo.

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY.

Friday was a busy day for the Rhinelander fire department, the boys responding to four alarms.

The first call came from Gilligan's hall in the fifth ward where the difficulty was found to be a burning chimney. This was followed later in the forenoon by a similar alarm from the south side.

Early in the afternoon the department was called to the residence of E. C. Sturdevant where a third chimney was burning. No damage resulted.

At about half past five o'clock that afternoon a fire started in the barn of the Sterens Lbr. Co., and owing to the high wind it was with great difficulty that the flames were kept from spreading to the nearby lumber piles. It looked for a time as though the city might experience another disastrous conflagration. People residing in that vicinity had removed their household goods, expecting to see the fire sweeping upon them at any moment. Fortunately the blaze was brought under control before it could do further damage than to destroy the barn. The loss was not heavy.

Sunday evening the department responded to a chimney fire on the south side.

WARNING UP.

The political pot, from present indications will soon reach the boiling point. There are rumors in circulation that this, that, or the other fellow will be a candidate for such and such a county office at the primaries, but nothing has been definitely stated to us in regard to anyone's candidacy, so that we can tell positively, who is out for what particular office. Very likely Min. Ryan and Three-Lakes will each have candidates in the field and this city will have several. We have not looked up the law, but we understand papers have to be filed about August 1st.

FOUNDATION COMPLETED.

The foundation for the new Swedish Baptist church on Mason street is about completed and work on the building will be pushed as rapidly as possible. The new church will be constructed of wood and stone and will be much larger than the old one. The interior furnishings will be quite elaborate. What the cost of the building will be is not yet known but the members of the congregation say that no expense will be spared, making it one of the finest buildings in that portion of the city.

MADDEN WAS HERE.

James H. Madden of Ashland who aspires to the seat in congress now occupied by Webster E. Brown of this city, spent part of Saturday here in the interests of his candidacy. We were not in when Mr. Madden called, so did not have the pleasure of making his acquaintance, but judging from remarks we have heard, his visit here was not detrimental to his chance for the nomination.

PLENTY OF DEER.

Parties who travel in the country report the woods as "lousy with deer" now days, and add that they seem to be comparatively tame. This would indicate that the game laws are being obeyed and that our game wardens are attending to business. It is hoped the "tame" feature will continue until the hunting season opens so that Fred. Coon, who is supposed to supply us with venison every year, will be more successful.

ELEVEN YEARS OLD.

On Tuesday of last week the Wausau Daily Record had reached its eleventh milestone. Messrs. Martin and Dodge, the publishers, are giving the people of Wausau one of the brightest and newest dailies in Northern Wisconsin and that the Record may continue to thrive and prosper is our earnest wish.

SENTENCED FOR LARCENY.

Geo. Anderson, J. J. Moran and Richard Hartman were arrested at Minocqua Saturday, charged with petit larceny. It is claimed that the men confiscated goods from a store there. They were brought to this city and arraigned before Judge Browne Monday. Anderson received 25 days in the county jail and Moran 20 days. Hartman was released.

DID NOT BURN.

A report was circulated in the city, Friday, that Wm. Hardell's saw mill on the Peckan river had been destroyed by fire that afternoon. This was later found to be untrue. We learn however, that there were bad forest fires near the mill, but that the property was saved only after desperate efforts to check the flames.

COURT CONVENES.

Circuit Court, the spring session of which adjourned week before last, again opened Monday afternoon. Judge Northorne arrived from Wausau that day.

GOOD BOOKS FOR LIBRARIES.

A good deal of money is wasted in the purchase of library books. In fact the statement has been made, and it seems to be true, that poor authors and poor publishers (those who will father any book for money) are encouraged to keep on simply because their books are purchased in free libraries, oftentimes by committees who know little of authors, less of their books and nothing of the reputation of publishers. What is needed is a most intelligent committee in library matters to assist the librarian and let some one of the committees, more if feasible, read every book before it is adopted as a part of the library. Select first good authors, good publishers, then get specimen copies, and read. If satisfactory accept. But do not take poor books. This will prevent so many dust accumulators in our libraries. And two or three copies of a good book are worth a dozen selected but useless by an incompetent person. Consult with free library commission, get its list, it will help.

We recently saw a list of new books purchased for a city library of the state, one of the large cities, where eight different authors were named in the list. Five reading people, who try to keep up, confessed they never heard of one of these authors before. All of these new books may be good. But probably not one in three were worth any notice whatever. That the city's money was squandered. And it behooves every librarian, every member of a committee to know each book before purchasing.

A Woman Who Has Suffered Tells How to Find Relief.

The thousands of women who suffer from backache, kidney, urinary disorders and other kidney ills, will find comfort in the words of Mrs. Jane Farwell, of 606 Ocean Ave., Jersey City, N. J., who says: "I reiterate all I have said before in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had been having heavy backache and my general health was affected when I began using them. My feet were swollen, my eyes puffed, and dizzy spells were frequent. Kidney action was irregular and the secretions highly colored. To-day, however, I am a well woman, and I am confident that Doan's Kidney Pills have made me so, and are keeping me well."

"My dear," said the trusting wife, "I don't think your rules of economy are any good."

"You don't?" asked the fond husband.

"No," she replied, bending anew over the column of figures in her beautifully bound expense book. "You told me the way to save money was not to buy things—that thus we would save the amount the goods would have cost us. So I have been careful to set down the exact price of everything I have wanted to buy but felt I could not afford. I find, in adding it up, it amounts to $355, but I only have $437 in cash on hand. "I suffered with humor for about three years and on. I finally saw a doctor and he gave me remedies that did me no good. So I tried Cuticura when my limb below the knee to the ankle was as raw as a piece of beef. All I used was the Cuticura Soap and the Ointment. Bathed with Cuticura Soap every day, and used about six or seven boxes of Cuticura Ointment. I was thoroughly cured of the humor in three weeks, and haven't been affected with it since. MEDICAL MENTION.

Dr. W. F. Robertson, a British physician of note and considerable research, declares that paralysis is a germ disease as truly as are tuberculosis and diphtheria.

Dr. Emil Reich says that what gave most English families of the upper classes the gout was the treaty that brought in the heavy wines of Portugal, much too heavy for use in the English climate.

The latest chair for the victim of rheumatism has a movable seat vibrated by an electric motor, the sensation produced being much like that experienced by the motorist. Surprising relief to the sufferer is said to be given.

Ultra violet light is claimed by Prof. Krummayer, a German experimenter, to have had remarkable effect in the treatment of falling hair and baldness. In 23 cases where every other remedy had failed, the light ray cured 37, and not only the hair, but in some cases the eyebrows and beard were restored, although the trouble was mostly of long standing.

One of the meanest effects of working by artificial light is that it fades the eyes. Instances have been known, it is said, of deep blue eyes becoming light gray from prolonged work at night with no protection from the glare of the gas. Fortunately it is not impossible to restore by proper care and medical treatment some at least of the brightness of the eyes when it has been lost.

BREAD DYSPEPSIA.

The Digesting Element Left Out. Bread dyspepsia is common. It affects the bowels because white bread is nearly all starch, and starch is digested in the intestines, not in the stomach proper.

Up under the shell of the wheat berry nature has provided a curious deposit which is turned into diastase when it is subjected to the saliva and to the pancreatic juices in the human intestines.

This diastase is absolutely necessary to digest starch and turn it into grape-sugar, which is the next form; but that part of the wheat berry makes dark flour, and the modern miller cannot readily sell dark flour, so nature's valuable diastase is thrown out and the human system must handle the starch as best it can, without the help that nature intended.

Small wonder that appendicitis, peritonitis, constipation and all sorts of trouble exist when we go contrary to nature's law. The food experts that perfected Grape-Nuts Food, knowing these facts, made use in their experiments of the entire wheat and barley, including all the parts, and subjected them to moisture and long continued warmth, which allows time and the proper conditions for developing the diastase, outside of the human body.

In this way the starchy part is transformed into grape-sugar in a perfectly natural manner, without the use of chemicals or any outside ingredients. The little sparkling crystals of grape-sugar can be seen on the pieces of Grape-Nuts. This food therefore is naturally pre-digested and its use in place of bread will quickly correct the troubles that have been brought about by the too free use of starch in the food, and that is very common in the human race to-day.

The effect of eating Grape-Nuts ten days or two weeks and the discontinuance of ordinary white bread is very marked. The user will gain rapidly in strength and physical and mental health.

"There's a reason."

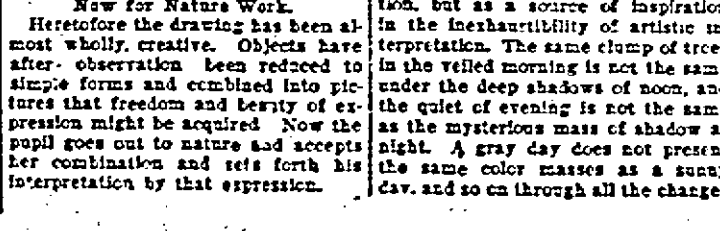

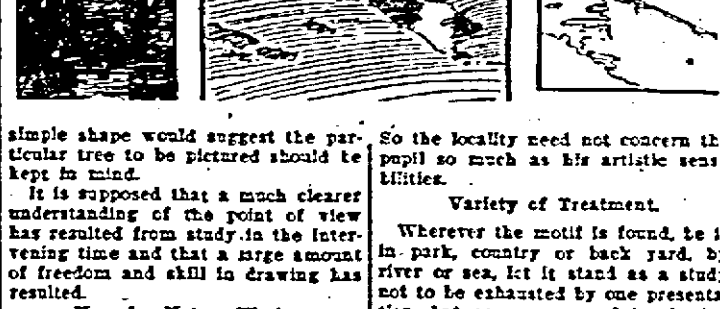

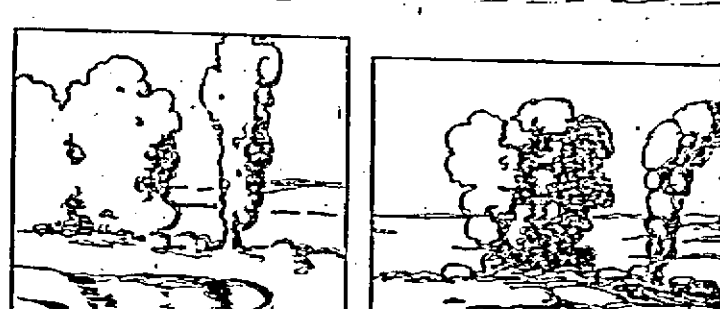

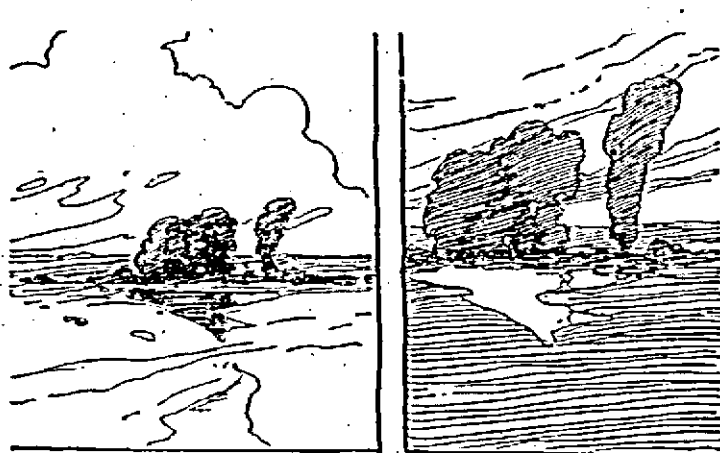

EASY LESSONS IN DRAWING

By FREDERICK RICHARDSON

(Instructor in Composition and in Charge of Illustration Classes in the Art Institute, Chicago.)

A previous article showed the application of the working method, as so far followed, to decorative drawing. In the same way the present article will show how drawings by symbol forms may be taken out of doors and be used as the basis of an interpretative working from nature.

Success depending more upon understanding the working method of reducing and employing the symbol forms than upon particular skill in objective drawing it were well for the pupil or teacher to review the earlier articles which suggested going out of doors to find the tree, the rock, hill or other forms to be reduced to working symbols for combining into pictures. All that was said on studying the character of trees so that a that nature puts on to interest with her varying variety.

Not only is there variety in the change of nature, but there is the variety of the point of view from which she is viewed. This is the great scale of proportion that is to be tried, and the drawing of the same stump of trees and pond or river or fence with the horizon high or low, the picture upright, square or long and narrow, with all the degrees between. The cutting off of the top line that the foreground may be emphasized, the experimenting with the placement of the principal group to this or that side, or the center, in fact, every consideration of the chosen motif should be tried, not only for the variety, but as the best way for study proportions, to exercise fertility of invention, and to guard against that tiresome fault—conventionalism.

Beauty in Haystacks.

One of the great landscape painters of France painted two haystacks under such different aspects. His exhibition was of great interest from the nature student's point of view and from the artist's. There was a score or more of canvases from January to December, from dawn to night. The haystacks were painted through mist and rain, under frost and sun, some an hour apart in the moment of their presentation and others months. It seemed as though the artist had never wearied of showing how many phases of beauty his subject could take on, and his exhibition showed that he did not weary the onlooker, for one went over this calendar done in haystacks with untiring delight in the changes and variety.

If we present a subject as everyone else has presented it there is little value in our presentation. The story has been told before and we are repeating it. But if we take no matter how commonplace the theme, a subject that has been told again and again, and give it in a new light and a new dress we at once claim the attention. This is the artist's claim to recognition, that he shows us our own world through new eyes.

Treat Subject Thoroughly.

It is meant that the student take whatever material he may have and pursue it to that end that he finds interest in the study of proportion, placement, balance and color, which must come in that artistic temperament is existent.

Let the proportion of each mass of trees, ground, pond or whatever else composes the picture be weighed and tried. Let the ground be as two-thirds to the sky, as three-fifths, as four-fifths. Let the sky predominate. Try proportions of a fifth of sky, a fifth of dark trees to three-fifths of halftone ground. Vary the intensity of these with the proportions. It will be seen that the purpose is not the treating of the subject in as many ways as possible for the sake of producing a quantity of pictures, but by seeking to produce the motive in every way in which it seems to obey harmonious expression, to cultivate the perception for beauty to the point of finding beauty in the most unpromising material.

To-Day's Illustrations.

The illustrations show one motive treated from different points of view and under various conditions as set forth in this article.

DAILY WATCH BIG RED BALL

Employees of Chicago City Hall Much Interested in a New Diversion.

City hall employees have a new diversion since the destruction of the old county building, reports the Chicago Daily News. It is watching the big red ball which every noon makes a quick and sensational slide down a pole 20 feet high on top of the Masonic temple. Every day two or three minutes before noon the shining globe is hoisted to the top of the pole, and on the stroke of 12 drops. At the same minute the hands of 100 or more watches in the city hall are switched to indicate exact midday.

It has been only since the old county building was razed that the workers in the city hall could see the time ball on the skyscraper nearly three blocks away. Now department heads, stenographers, clerks and chemists all through the city building engage daily in watching the ball's performance and setting their watches by its fall. To see the sphere let loose is an event in the day and the windows from which good views are obtainable are as crowded each noon as the station platform of a metropolitan village on the arrival of a transcontinental flyer.

"Oh, phew!" says a disappointed young woman stenographer sometimes, "I looked away just a second and now the ball is gone. I hope I have better luck to-morrow."

Some of the city employees who have the habit of watching the ball confess to nervousness and disappointment if they fail to get a position from which to see its descent, and say they cannot work as well afterwards or days they are deprived of their nighttime glimpse of the descending sphere.

Indian at West Point.

Paul Knapp, a half-breed Pottawatomie 19 years old, has been appointed to a West Point cadetship by President Roosevelt. Young Knapp was born near Hartford, Mich., but for years has lived with his parents in Benton Harbor, where he received the greater part of his education in the public schools. Later he went to the Haskell Institute, a school for Indians in Lawrence, Kan. Last August he returned to Benton Harbor and has been doing such work as he could get. Some time ago he wrote to Indian Commissioner Leupp, who became interested in him, and the result was his appointment by the president.

Rhodie's Escort.

On a recent journey from Alexandria to the oasis of Siwa, the khedive of Egypt was escorted by eight Egyptian officers, 33 soldiers, one coachman, seven groom, three cooks, four servants, two tent pitchers, one carrier, five camelmen, two camel drivers, four guides and 45 Bedouin camel drivers. There were 41 horses, 32 dromedaries and 25 camels for his highness' personal service and 216 camels supplied by Bedouins for transport service.

A LAND OF OPPORTUNITIES.

Inducements Held Out by Western Canada Are Powerful.

A recent number of the Winnipeg (Manitoba) Free Press contains an excellent article on the prospects in Western Canada, a portion of which we are pleased to reproduce.

The agents of the Canadian Government, located at different centres in the States, will be pleased to give any further information as to rates, and how to reach these lands.

"Just now there is a keener interest than ever before on that part of the outside world, in regard to the claims of the Canadian West as a field of settlement. At no previous time has there been such a rush of immigration, and the amount of information distributed broadcast is unprecedentedly great.

"In the majority of the States of the Union and in Great Britain the opportunities for home-making and achieving of even a modest competence are at the best limited. Moreover, according to the social and industrial conditions prevalent in those communities, the future holds out no promise of better things. It is not strange, then, that energetic young men should turn their eyes to Canada's great wheat belt, where every man can pursue fortune without the hindrance of any discouraging handicaps.

The inducements held out by Western Canada are powerful and made manifest by the great movement now in progress. That the prospects are considerably more than reasonably certain is borne out by the history of the country and its residents. The promise of gain is powerful, but when added to it there is the prospect of a corresponding social and civil elevation. It should prove irresistible to young men of a particularly desirable class for any new country.

"The Canadian West is alive with opportunities for the young man who aims at becoming more than a mere atom in the civil and national fabric. Some of the eager young fellows who arrive on the prairies daily are destined to become more than merely prosperous farmers. In the near future great municipal and provincial development will be in the hands of the people. The stepping stone to both financial prosperity and civil prominence is, and will be, the farm. For every professional opening there are hundreds of agricultural openings. The Canadian prairie is teeming with opportunities for the honest and industrious of all classes, but they are specially inviting to the ambitious young man who seeks a field for the energy and ability which he feels inherent within him. The familiar cry of 'Back to the soil!' is more than a vain sounding phrase when applied to Western Canada."

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increases in the Number of Operations Performed Each Year—How Women May Avoid Them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients being operated upon by the doctor, after using the X-Ray machine, and girls, who are either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly the increase among the women of this country—their grip upon them is unobtrusive, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, painful left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacement of the organs or irregularity. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation, but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or irregularity of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" and "want to be left alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, writes that she was unable to write for advice. Her address and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The Evening Wisconsin of Monday states that former Governor William H. Upham of Marshfield is willing to be regarded as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. He served but one term in that office and thinks he has another term coming. The prospects are that he will have something coming for some moons in Wisconsin. It will be a cold and stormy November day if he is ever elected governor again.

At the meeting of Norwegians in Milwaukee on the 15th instant, the anniversary of the independence of Norway, Governor Davidson was really the guest of honor, shown by prolonged applause whenever his name was mentioned.

The Norwegians believe in Davidson. He is a true representative of their nationality. He came to America a poor boy when twelve years of age, and of his own merit has climbed to the top of the ladder in state affairs.

And when the primary election comes in September, Governor Davidson will receive the unanimous vote of his countrymen.

Commissioner of Insurance Zeno M. Host testified before the insurance investigating committee of the legislature a few days since, that about two years ago he was approached by Walter L. Houser, secretary of state, saying that if a certain decision was rendered in an examination of the Equitable Life Insurance company, said company would contribute $2000 to campaign expenses.

Secretary of State Houser indignantly denied making any such overtures that might be construed into an attempt to corrupt a state official.

Thus the matter stands. One state officer saying "you did" the other denying by "I did not". The public can choose between the two statements. After all comes the query, what object could Commissioner Host have in misrepresenting the facts in the case.

Secretary Houser announces that he will go on in his canvass for votes for nomination for the third term, on the Leavitt-Dahl ticket.

WALTER ALEXANDER.

A simple announcement was made last week that a party of gentlemen representing many parts of the tenth congressional district were in this city and that the object of their coming was to try and induce Mr. Walter Alexander, one of the leading citizens of this city to become a candidate for congress from this district which is now represented by the Hon. Webb Brown, and who has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

The proposition was not only a surprise to Mr. Alexander, but was received with positive disfavor by him as his great business interests, and his domestic habits were far more attractive to him than a political career. But argument was met with argument in which his duty to the republican party of which he has always been a faithful and consistent adherent was not overlooked and when the meeting broke up, no definite conclusion had been reached, save his promise to take the matter under advisement and render his decision in the near future.

The situation has not changed since that time, and notwithstanding an immense pressure has been brought to bear upon Mr. Alexander, he still has the case under advisement, and will not give any hint as to how he will decide the matter. Now that the question has been put before the public, there seems to be but one opinion, one wish of the people without regard to political affiliations, and that is that he should accept the invitation, and enter the race, not for the honor that would come to him, but for the benefit that the entire district would experience in having such a man for a representative.

There is little question in the minds of those most familiar with the situation that there is no man in the district better qualified for the office, or that it would be so easy to elect.

He has been of valuable service to the republican party in times past, and has never asked for any official recognition because of the labor he has freely given. And this is an honor not of his own choosing, but is literally thrust upon him, which makes it all the harder for him to peremptorily decline.

There are many and weighty reasons why he is specially qualified for this position, and why if possible he should be induced to accept the honor. But Mr. Alexander never goes into an enterprise, or embarks in a new venture without first carefully investigating the pros and cons and this will be no exception to the general rule of his life.

Representative men all over the district want him, the people of Wausau are clamorous for him to announce his acceptance and the Daily Record sincerely trusts that it will be permitted in the near future to be the bearer of the welcome news that Walter Alexander is in the field, and will make a vigorous campaign for the congressional nomination.—Wausau Record.

HE WENT ON CRUTCHES

All Medicines Failed Until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured His Rheumatism.

"Some years ago," says Mr. W. H. Clark, a printer, living at 618 Buchanan street, Topeka, Kan., "I had a bad attack of rheumatism and could not seem to get over it. All sorts of medicines failed to do me any good and my trouble kept getting worse. My feet were so swollen that I could not wear shoes and I had to go on crutches. The pain was terrible."

"One day I was setting the type of an article for the paper telling what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for a man afflicted as I was and I was so impressed with it that I determined to give the medicine a trial. For a year my rheumatism had been growing worse, but after taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I began to improve. The pain and swelling all disappeared and I can truthfully say that I haven't felt better in the past twenty years than I do right now. I could name, of hand, a half dozen people who have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at my suggestion and who have received good results from them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They contain no morphine, opiate, narcotic, nor anything to cause a drug habit. They do not act on the blood, but they actually make new blood and strengthen the heart.

PECK'S BAD BOY WITH THE CIRCUS

By HON. GEORGE W. PECK

How the Old Man Subdued the Indians with an Electric Battery and Phosphorus—He Tries His Hand at Roping a Steer—The Disastrous Result.

See, but I thought pa was all in when I closed my last letter, when the Indians had him bound on a board, and had lighted a fire, and were just going to broil him. Jealousy is bad enough in a white man, but when an Indian gets jealous of his squaw there is going to be something doing, and when a whole tribe gets jealous of one man, trouble is sure to come. I taught the squaw to be independent, and rise up as one man against the tyranny of their husbands, that white man is not safe, and as pa lay there, waiting for the fire to get hot enough for them to lay him on the coals, I felt almost like crying, 'cause I didn't want to take pa's remains back home so much that they wouldn't be an ornament to society, so I went up to pa's couch to get his instructions as to our future course, when he should be all in.

I said, "Pa, this is the most serious case you have yet mixed up in. I, wimmin, how you do ruin men who put their trust in you."

Pa winked at me, and said:

"Never you mind me, Henry, I will come out of this scrape and have all the Indians on their knees in less than an hour, begging my pardon, and then pa's voice and got an electric battery and put it in pa's pocket and scattered copper wires all around pa's body, and fixed it so pa could touch a button and turn on a charge of electricity that would paralyze an elephant, and then I got some matches and took the phosphorus out and put it all over pa's face and hands and clothes, and as it became dark and the phosphorus began to shine, pa was a sight. He looked like moonlight on the lake, and I got the cowboy and the big game hunter and the educated Indian to get down on their knees around pa, and chant something that would sound terrible to the Indians. This only thing in the way of a chant that all of them could chant was the football tune, "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and we were whooping it up over pa's illuminated remains when the Indians came out to put pa on the fire, and when they saw the phosphorescent glow all over him, and his face looking as though he was at peace with all the world, and us whites on our knees, making motions and singing that hot dirge, they all turned pale, and were scared, and they fell back reverently, and gazed fixedly at poor pa, who was winking at us, and whispering to us to keep it up, and we did.

The old chief was the first to recover, and he saw that something had to be done pretty quick, so he talked Indian to some of the braves, and I slipped away and put some phosphorus all over a squaw, and she looked like a lightning bug, and told her to go and fall on pa's remains and yell murder. The Indians had started to grab pa and put him on the fire when pa turned on the battery and the big chief got a dose big enough for a whole flock of Indians, and all who touched pa got a shock, and they all fell back and got on their knees, and just then the squaw with the phosphorus on her system came running out, and she fell across pa's remains, and she shone so you could read fine print by the light she gave, and that settled it with the tribe, 'cause they all fell down flat and were at pa's mercy. I pushed the illuminated squaw away, and went around and put his foot on the neck of each Indian, in token of his absolute mastery over them, and then he bade them arise, and he told them he had only done these things to show them the power of the great father over his children, and now he would reveal to them his object in coming amongst them, and that was to engage 20 of the best Indians, and 20 of the best squaws, to join our great show, at an enormous salary, and be ready in two weeks to take the road. The Indians were delighted, and began to quarrel about who should go with the show, and to quiet them pa said he wanted to shake hands with all of them, and they lined up, and pa took the strongest wire attached to the battery in his pistol pocket, and let it run up under his coat and down his sleeve, into his right hand, and that was the way he shook hands with them. I thought I would die laughing. Pa took a position, like a president at a New Year's reception, and shook hands with the tribe one at a time. The old chief came first, and pa grasped his hand tight, and the chief stood on his toes and his knees knocked together, his teeth chattered, and he danced a can can while pa held on to his hand and squeezed, but he finally let go and the chief wiped his head on a dog, and the dog got some of the electricity and it yelped to beat the band. Then pa shook hands with everybody, and they all went through the same kind of performance, and licked pa, and they smoked cigarettes, and finally sat down and began to trade calves and rope cattle to get them brand of cattle being driven on in a different direction, and we had the most interesting free show of bucking horses and roping cattle I ever saw. Pa watched the boys work for a long time, and complimented them, or criticized them for some error, until the crazy spirit seemed to get into him, and he thought he could do it as well as any of the boys, and he told our cowboy that whenever the boys got tired he would like to get on a buckskin pony that one of the men was riding, and show them that while a little out of practice he could stand a steer on his head, and get off his horse and tie the animal in a few seconds beyond the record time.

I told pa he better hire a man to do it for him, but he said, "Henry, here is where your pa has got to make good, or these cowboys won't affiliate. You take my watch and roll, 'cause to one can tell where a fellow will land when he gets his steer," and I took pa's watch and the boys brought up the buckskin horse, which smelled of pa and throbbed, and didn't seem to want pa to get on, but they held the horse by the bridle, and pa finally got himself on both sides of the horse, and took the lariet rope of the pommel of the saddle and began to handle it, kind of awkward, like a boy with a clothesline. I didn't like the way the cowboys winked around among themselves and eyed pa, and I told pa about it, and tried to get him to give it up, but he said, "When I get my steer tied, and stand with my foot on his neck, these yinking cowboys will take off their hats to me all right, I am Long Horn like, from the Brazos, and you watch my smoke."

Well, the boys tightened up the cinch on pa's saddle, and pointed out a crazy black steer in a bunch down on the flat, and told pa the game was to cut that steer out of the bunch, and rope it, and tie it, and hold up his right hand for the time keeper to record it. Gee, but pa spurred the horse, and rode into that bunch of cattle like a whirlwind, and I was proud of him, and he cut out the black steer all right, and rode up near it, and swung his lariet, and sent it whirling through the air, and the moose went out over the head and neck and fore feet of the steer, and the horse stopped and set itself back on its haunches, and the rope got around the belly of the steer, and when the rope became taut, and the steer ought to have been turned bottom side up, the cinch of pa's saddle broke, the saddle came off with pa hugging his legs around it, and the black steer started due west for Texas, galloping and howling, and you couldn't see pa and the saddle for the dust they made following the steer. If pa had let go of the saddle, he would have stopped, but he hung to it, and the rope was tied to the saddle, the buckskin horse relieved of the saddle, looked around at the cowboys as much as to say, "wouldn't that skin you," and went to grazing, the other cattle looked on as though they would say, "Another tenderfoot gone wrong," and as the black steer and pa and the saddle went over a hill, pa only touching the high places, the boss cowboy said, "Come on and help head off the steer, and send a wagon to bring back the remains of Long Horn like from the Brazos," and then I began to cry for pa.

FIDDLER FOUND KEYNOTE.
Story of a Pittsburgh Suspension Bridge That Was Made to Dance.

The old Sixth street bridge was a suspension bridge, and in connection therewith a story used to be told. Everybody knows, says the Pittsburgh Gazette, that soldiers in crossing a suspension bridge must break step and hands are not allowed to play marches, because of the cumulative force of the vibrations, which are apt to either destroy the bridge completely or crystallize the iron cables. Now, sound is vibration, and this explanation, not very scientifically put here, is the basis of the story, remembering that every object is supposed to have a keynote which, when struck on a musical instrument, evokes responsive vibrations in the said object.

The story goes that many years ago an old man, carrying a fiddle in a case, once started across the bridge without paying toll. He was called back by the toll keeper, protested his inability to pay, but was not allowed to cross. Threatening vengeance, the old fiddler seated himself on the wharf under the Allegheny end of the bridge and began to scrape away on his fiddle for hours, apparently trying all sorts of notes, half notes and combination of notes and chords.

Suddenly he seemed to find what he sought, for his face "lighted up" and he began to scrape steadily on a certain chord. A moan went through the bridge. Faster played the old man, and the wire cables fairly sang in response to the wild notes of the fiddle. Furiously the old fiddler scraped away and the cables began to vibrate, slowly at first, the vibrations growing stronger as the keynote sounded on the violin. The bridge began to tremble, then to sway. By this time the toll keepers saw something was up, for the pedestrians on the bridge began to run, drivers whipped up their horses, men and women with blanched faces declined to set foot on either end of the structure. A messenger (there were no telephones then) was dispatched for the superintendent, and he came running. The old fiddler was pointed out and a constable was ordered to arrest him, but there being no suspicious person law then in existence, the officer shook his head.

The bridge was cutting up all sorts of capers, swaying back and forth like a swing, until at last the superintendent in desperation ran to the fiddler and promised never to demand toll from him. An agreement was entered into, the fiddler pledging to keep secret to his dying day the keynote, so that no revengeful musician ever again could place the structure in jeopardy without studying out the keynote himself.

Madison—Declaring that the fish and game laws of the state are ambiguous, inconsistent, and self-contradictory, Attorney J. M. Clancy, of Stoughton, former attorney general, presented and argued an exhaustive brief in the municipal court. It was in the case of Helmer Felland, a Stoughton boy, charged with illegal fishing and having a pickerel in his possession. After listening to nearly three hours of argument, Judge Donovan announced he would take the matter under advisement. The news that Attorney Clancy was making a vigorous attack upon the fish and game laws spread rapidly among Madison sportsmen, and several local attorneys since have examined the law. They say the statutes are seriously involved and should be remodeled and made more clear. Clancy brought out many points, quoting from the statutes freely. He made the sensational statement that in Dane county pickerel are not protected. He said it may have been the intention of the legislature to have pickerel regarded as a game fish, but it failed to specify and make such intention clear. Should his contentions be upheld by Judge Donovan or carried to a higher court and upheld, the present fish and game laws would be rendered void and poachers might hunt and fish in any manner with impunity.

State University Investigation.
The legislative committee investigating the State university decided to send its members to universities of nearby states to inquire into their management and secure any information that might aid in installing reforms at Madison. The different members of the committee will visit different universities, and when they return they will compare notes. Dr. Clarke Gapon, of Madison, an alumnus of the university and a widely known physician, was asked concerning the advisability of permitting Greek letter fraternities at the university and regarding the present system of management of the institution. He expressed the opinion that the fraternity system was helpful to a large body of the students, but he believed that more stringent restrictions should surround them in order that they might be more democratic and that the line of demarcation between them and the nonfraternity students might not be pronounced as at present. The next meeting of the committee will probably not be held until some time next month.

James, of Dodgeville, now serving his second term as treasurer of Iowa county, has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination to the office of state treasurer at the primary election to be held the first Tuesday in September. Mr. James was born in Dodgeville June 1, 1851, and is the youngest son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. D. James, with whom he moved to Lincoln in 1882, where he resided until he was appointed deputy sheriff in 1922. In 1909 he was nominated against strong opposition as sheriff in Iowa county and was elected by an overwhelming majority. In 1922 he broke all precedents by being nominated and elected as county treasurer of Iowa county, no other officer ever having gone from one office to another in the history of the county. He was reelected in 1921.

Menasha's Petition Denied.
Upon the statement of Maj. Judson, of the United States engineer's office at Milwaukee that the placing of an obstruction in the river would cause a rise in the level of Lake Winnebago, the government has refused the petition of the Menasha city council, asking that permission be given to drive piles across the Fox river at the Mill street bridge, as a protection to the bridge and the government dam.

Quarters for Crew Secured.
Commodore Baye, of the crew of department, has secured an option on new quarters for the Wisconsin eight at Pouchkeepsie. The building is across the river from the old one and is considered more advantageous, being on the same side of the river as the race is held.

Quarrel in Order Settled.
A suit involving six cents and costs, of Crystal camp, Royal Neighbors, at Janesville, in which the books of the order were seized by the court to insure payment of the costs, has been settled. The affair was the result of an attempt to oust the recorder of the camp. The state oracle orders the books of the camp returned to her, leaving matters as they stood formerly.

Judge Mahoney a Candidate.
Judge D. O. Mahoney, of Vilproux, gave out a formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress in the Third district. He will oppose Congressman J. W. Babcock, of Neeshah, who is an avowed candidate for re-nomination and election. Judge Mahoney was a candidate against Congressman Babcock two years ago when Senator La Follette took the stump in opposition to the re-nomination of the Neeshah man.

The Late Carl Schurz at Madison.
The late Carl Schurz, the eminent German-American statesman, made his first appearance in this country as a public man, at the Republican state convention in Madison in 1857. The delegates who composed that convention are nearly all dead now, and so are the gentlemen who were nominated on the Republican ticket that year, including Mr. Schurz, nominated for lieutenant governor and defeated, except the venerable Samuel D. Hays, who was elected state treasurer.

terms in the 30's and was twice the nominee for governor of Wisconsin on the labor and populist ticket. He organized and commanded a regiment of immigrants during the Spanish war. For many years he was a surgeon and scout on the plains and afterward conducted an extensive medical practice at La Crosse. He leaves a widow and two brothers, Drs. G. E. and W. A. Inheritance Tax Law in Court.
The supreme court heard arguments in two cases involving the constitutionality of the state inheritance tax law. One was in the case of the Babst Brewing company, of Milwaukee, against County Judge Carpenter, who issued an order compelling the company to produce its books in court in order that the tax on the estate left by Capt. Babst might be accurately determined. The company secured a writ of prohibition from the supreme court against Judge Carpenter. The case was argued on demurrer to the return, which really brought the merits of the entire case before the court. The validity of the inheritance tax law came up squarely in the Nunne-macher case. While the action only involves a tax of $2,000 to the Nunne-macher estate, it will compel the state to refund $224,000 to estates which have paid taxes under the law if it should be declared invalid. The law is assailed on the ground that it does not provide for uniform taxation, but classifies citizens for purposes of taxation, which is contrary to the constitution.

Big Suit Settled Out of Court.
The famous $20,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Charlotte W. White, of Waukegan, against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Frances L. White, wife of the millionaire Milwaukee real estate dealer, has been settled out of court. The defendant is the daughter of the late Gov. Livingston, of Wisconsin, and the son's marriage took place at Waukegan, Ill., December 11, 1901. The daughter-in-law, in a sensational bill, averred that her husband had been induced by his mother to leave her and despite her. It is rumored that she will start another similar suit with a change in the technical points.

Will Retire from Congress.
Representative Webster E. Brown, of Rhinelander, will not be a candidate for reelection to congress from the Tenth Wisconsin congressional district. He announced that he would not be a candidate at the primaries this fall. Mr. Brown will retire from the house at the end of his present term for purely business reasons.

Wins Declamatory Contest.
Herman H. Karrow, of Milwaukee, a sophomore in the college of letters and science and winner of the freshman declamatory contest last year, won the first platform contest given by Phi Alpha Psi. Mr. Karrow, who is a member of the Athenaeum, received a silver prize cup, appropriately engraved. The winner is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Insurance Commissioner on Watch.
State Insurance Commissioner Host is closely watching the effects of the San Francisco losses on fire insurance companies operating in Wisconsin with a view of protecting, as far as he can, residents of this state holding policies in such companies. Commissioner Host said that the Firemen's Fund Insurance company of San Francisco, which also controls the Home Fire and Marine company of the same city, will be allowed to continue business in Wisconsin, as both appear to be solvent.

Current State Topics in Brief.
By the explosion of a kerosene stove Mrs. Mary Grange, of Watertown, aged 81 years, who was living alone, was fatally burned. She was preparing dinner when the flames ignited her clothing, burning her terribly about the hips, back and arms.

Harry Charbon, colored, charged with assault and intent to murder Lillian Cole, his sweetheart, at Racine, by shooting her in the back with a revolver, pleaded guilty. Judge Smiley sentenced him to eleven years in the state prison.

WILL WIND UP CONSUMERS.

General Paper Company to Be Dissolved and a Reorganization Effected as Soon as Possible.

Appleton—The General Paper company has practically decided to dissolve the General Paper company, comprising 21 paper companies of the middle west, and which has been under fire of the federal government for some months as operating contrary to the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law. Just how much longer the General Paper company will remain intact is not known, but information from semi-official sources here is to the effect that its business will be closed up as rapidly as possible and the company declared dissolved.

It is not the intention of the paper manufacturers, however, to remain in the field as individual dealers in paper product, according to the same source of information. The General will be dissolved and a reorganization will be effected as soon as possible. In fact, it is hinted that there will be no intermission between the dissolution of the General and the organization of the proposed new concern, which will doubtless be an ownership.

HAD TO HAVE TOBACCO.
Prisoner in Racine Jail, Deprived of Stimulant, Attempts to Commit Suicide.

Racine—George Steffen, a printer 53 years old, said to be from Milwaukee, tried to hang himself in a cell at the county jail because he was refused a chew of tobacco by the officials. Steffen came to the city some days ago and was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. He served a term in jail. Later he was again taken in while begging. During the night he tore up his shirt, made a rope of the pieces, and was discovered in time. When taken into court Steffen showed terrible injuries sustained in an accident which incapacitated him from labor. He said that he was a great tobacco chewer and that no tobacco was allowed him in the jail. It made him crazy and he wanted to die. He begged Judge Smiley not to send him back there. The judge let him go, and he left the city.

The suicide occurred at 5:20 o'clock, and, until the report awakened his wife, she had no premonition that her husband contemplated the rash deed. Ill health and drink are said to have been responsible. Mr. Lee was well to do and owned property in Milwaukee, as well as in Wauwatosa. He was 53 years of age and is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Fisher.

Janesville Horse Show.
Janesville—Three thousand people witnessed the opening of the two-day horse show and races at the fair grounds here. Miss Elizabeth Schickler won first prize in the fancy driving contest and Alderman J. J. Sheridan had the finest team.

In the sensational ten-mile race between five touring cars, Jimmie Menahall, of Beloit, won in 21 minutes, with tire off the rear wheel of his machine the last five miles.

Priest Succumbs to Injuries.
La Crosse—From injuries received when, riding in the night to answer a call to the deathbed of a parishioner, he was thrown from his buggy, Rev. N. A. Keegan, a well-known Catholic priest of this diocese, died at Avoca. Father Keegan had been stationed at Loreto, Janesville, Eau Claire and Avoca.

Green Bay—Former Alderman Albert L. Gray pleaded guilty to accepting two bribes of $500 each in 1901 in connection with a paving contract, and was fined $1,099 in each case.

BALD-HEADED BRIDEGROOMS.

They Are Fine Citizens and It Is No Wonder the Girls Like Them.

An esteemed contemporary has opened the columns to a discussion of the question "Why do educated and refined women marry bald-headed men?" and men with and without hair seem to be considerably agitated over it. Even women are joining in the discussion, and there are as many explanations as there are correspondents. None of them, however, explains, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It is the form of the question evidently that confuses. It presumes too much and the presumption is accepted as established by the wrangle. They do not question the premise. Educated and refined women do not as a rule marry bald-headed men, though they do sometimes, when they cannot catch them earlier.

The question deals with particulars as general. It should be: "Why do women marry men?" And the answer to this, if we do not confuse the issue by the citation of examples, of which we remark: "What on earth does he see in him?" is simple.

Women marry men to get husbands. Men marry women to get wives. Fat, lean, young, old, hirsute and bald, all marry for the same reason. "It is not good for man to live alone."

Anyway, why should the bald head be brought into the limelight in this spectacular way? Is it not conspicuous enough as it is to attract much undesired attention without forcing the issue?

Bald-headed men are worthy citizens. They must be, for they are always under inspection. A bald head is a light that cannot be hid under a bushel. It may not conceal itself. If it frolics somewhat gayly, the world says: "Behold you shameless one!"

A bald head must perform seek virtuous ways. There are few or no bald-headed villains. They are scarce as fat beggars.

Let not the finger of scorn be pointed at the bald head for that he marries a "refined and educated woman." It is to his credit. The bald head sets an example that the hirsute rich might emulate with profit. The bald head is the symbol of lofty citizenship and "shines" like a good tree in a naughty world.

BUSINESSLIKE GOVERNMENT.
City of England That Is Run on a Simple Yet Very Effective System.

The government of Manchester is a business. Its liabilities are about $155,000,000; its assets are about $147,000,000; and the deficiency, about $8,000,000, represents the amount which the ratepayers have to contribute each year, writes Samuel Merwin, in Success Magazine. The figures indicate that it is a big business. The management of this big business is absolutely in the hands of the city council acting through its committees. As I have said, the system is simple, and the responsibility cannot be evaded as it can be in a muddled up, complicated system like that of New York or Chicago or Newark. The people know what has to be done, and they know who has to do it. But, even at that, big figures are confusing to the average mind. And then, too, it is well to submit the figures which a city council publishes to an unsympathetic eye. And so, because the people of Manchester propose to know what is done with their money, they have in their service two men whose business it is to investigate and publish at regular intervals, every tendency of the council toward carelessness or extravagance. Never for a moment are the council members permitted to forget whose money it is that they are managing with such fiscal ease.

These two men are known as "electronic auditors." They are elected directly by the people, and the more merciless their attacks on the council the better they please the people. They are free from the slightest obligation to the council. They have access to all facts and figures, for the people of Manchester find it difficult to understand why their government, managed by their personal representatives with their money, should not work wholly in the light. These reports are published weekly in the Manchester "City News."

HENS OF HAWAII FAIL.
Climatic Conditions Said to Be Unfavorable to the Egg Supply.

The chickens in Honolulu, for reasons best known to themselves, have positively refused to lay eggs. As a consequence good laying hens are much in demand in San Francisco for shipment to the Hawaiian Islands, says the San Francisco Examiner, of recent date.

Every steamship that leaves for Honolulu carries a large consignment of laying hens and the supply is not equal to the demand. "Climatic conditions" is the excuse put forward for the failure of the Honolulu hen to lay. The middle western states, as well as California, export chickens to the islands, the yearly shipment for the islands averaging 400 carloads of dressed and 700 carloads of live poultry.

"All the best laying hens that can be secured in California are shipped down to Honolulu at the present time," said a commission man. "For some very undiscovered reason the hens raised in the Hawaiian Islands are not good egg producers, and as a result we have orders to ship all the good laying hens that we can down to the islands."

How German Curbs Automobiles.
The German government's proposed way of punishing automobilists who ran down the people of the countryside is worth considering. Embodied in a bill is the scheme obliging automobilists to pay life annuities to those dependent on persons killed by their motor cars or to those permanently injured by them. The owners of the cars and not the chauffeurs would be held responsible and the annuities would be assessed by the courts.

MINOCQUA.

Next to the winter of our discontent comes the springtime of housecleaning.

Every home, however small, has its patch of ground, the area of which is separated into flowerbeds, shrubbery, grass and vegetables.

Launch parties are the newest departure in the form of enjoyment.

Rev. Munroe left Tuesday night for St. Paul, returning Saturday morning.

Prof. Fuller, principal of the Eagle River schools, with a party of thirty students and teachers spent Saturday and Sunday with friends and relatives.

The high school repeated their musical and literary program at Hazelhurst Friday night.

Several families have quietly forwarded their mite to the relief fund for the San Francisco victims.

The victory of the high school athletes over the Eagle River Club Saturday afternoon indicated future successes. A banquet and launch ride were the social features of the evening.

Those who had the pleasure of listening to the program of the Bishop-Lowe concert Thursday night, speak of it as having special charm in appealing to the masses.

The musical society under the direction of Mrs. J. J. LaMotte closed the year's work Friday night with a recital in the presence of an appreciative audience. The exceedingly tastefully arranged program told a story of good, conscientious and persistent work. Mrs. LaMotte's rendition of Faust by Leybach was a happy climax. An almost perfect technique, remarkable power of expression united with a charming personality marked her a true artist, and it is safe to prophesy a successful record for a society with so able a leader.

A dancing party was given last Saturday evening at Erickson's hall which was attended by all the young people of this village and many from Manitowish.

The new hotel to be erected here by Geo. Richardson will be one of the finest on the Northwestern between Rhinelander and Ironwood. Mercer needs a few more business men like George.

We regret that Mr. and Mrs. John Weber are soon to leave Mercer to reside in Ironwood. During their long residence here they have made many friends and it is hoped that they will visit here often. It is said that Mr. Weber has purchased a fine residence in Ironwood.

The Opening of the Shoshone Reservation.

The land of profitable opportunity still lies open to the homesteader.

The Western frontier is rapidly disappearing, but the homesteader and settler still finds an occasional opportunity to pick up a quarter section of Government land. One of the last chances of the kind will be given by Uncle Sam when the Wind River or Shoshone Indian Reservation lands are thrown open to the homesteaders some time this summer.

This tract of something over a million acres is situated in central Wyoming. Just east of the Jackson Hole country and the Yellowstone Park forest reserve.

In the mountains, elk, deer, and other wild game have been most abundant. It has been without railroad facilities in the past, but the Wyoming & North-Western Railway is now rapidly laying rails across Wyoming from Casper, the present terminus of the North-Western Line, to Shoshoni, the new town which has sprung up since the reservation opening has been announced and to Lander in the Lander Valley, one of the richest spots in Wyoming where numerous small irrigated farms produce forty to fifty-five bushels of wheat, two hundred bushels of potatoes, and sixty bushels of oats to the acre.

The new line of railway opens up millions of acres of sheep and cattle range, where the rich buffalo grass and grama grass make the best pasturage on earth eating like grain, so that stock will fatten on it in the fall.

The new line passes through Wolf ton, one of the largest original wool shipping points in the world, and will be completed to Shoshoni within the next sixty days or less.

Shoshoni is two and one-half miles from the reservation border, and here and at Lander the Government will probably establish land offices for registration when the Indian lands are thrown open.

The Reservation has been inhabited by a docile, law-abiding people, who are engaged in farming in a small way. The most of them have taken up land by allotment, preparatory to abandoning the reservation, and the Government is encouraging the leasing of these Indian farms, which are very choice lands, to white farmers.

The State of Wyoming controls the waters of Wind River and Little Wind River, and the State engineers are making surveys and preparing for irrigation projects under State supervision, by which a large proportion of the reservation will be placed under water and thereby made very valuable. Agriculture here without irrigation is practically out of the question, and such lands as do not come under the proposed ditch will be used for grazing lands, for which purpose they are without a superior.

If the State builds the irrigation canals now proposed, it will give an opportunity for new-comers and settlers to secure work.

A large movement of people west is predicted when the Shoshone opening is placed in effect.

The fortunate settler who secures one of these quarter sections will get his land at a cost of about $150 per acre, payable in easy installments, covering a period of several years.

This, of course, does not include cost of water rights on such lands as are to be irrigated.

Statistics Cured After Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 2222 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. It troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 2-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by Andeile & Hinman.

A young lady working in a stocking factory, leaving her chances small for a life partner, wrote the following and clipped it into the toe of a gentleman's sock: "A young lady goes looking and of some means, would like to correspond with the wearer of this stocking, if he is single, with a view to matrimony." A young man bought the sock and said: "There is my chance." He wrote to the young lady offering himself as a suitable party and to his surprise got this reply: "I have been married eight years and have a family of children." The man from whom he bought the socks had never advertised consequently they had lain on his shelves for eight years.

Not as Rich as Rockefeller.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician cannot prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it.
